The bill to provide for public libraries has been killed by the legislature.

The late Frank Leslie died of a cancer similar to that which is killing General Grant.

The legislature did a wise thing in passing a bill to forbid the contract labor system in poor houses.

Mr. Hendricks will cause a little flutter in official circles in England by visiting that country next summer.

A bill has passed the legislature prohibiting fishing with nets of any kind in either Rock river or Lake Koshkonong.

The democratic spoil crop will not be large this year. The signs seem to indicate that there will be few offices in a bill.

President Cleveland has declined to attend the annual meeting of the Iroquois club in Chicago. The president is judicious in the selection of his company.

Chicago can now smile audibly at Milwaukee over the next little anecdote. Mr. Moody, the rovivator, got off on the latter city. He was asked in the recent convention at Milwaukee whether he had grace enough to the at the stake. He replied: "No, I don't need it; all I want is grace enough to hold this convention for three days in Milwaukee." Milwaukee papers please copy.

General Fairchild was complimented in a very handsome manner by the senate on Thursday when it resolved to change the name of the new county of Forest, the organization of which had just been provided for by concurring in an assembly bill to that effect, and give it the name of Fairchild. The Journal says that this felicitous change was first proposed by Senator Grint, and it so well accorded with the sentiment of Senator Minor, who had moved a suspension of the rules in order that the original bill might be concurred in, that he immediately introduced a joint resolution providing for the change.

As usual in charter elections, the republican city of Janesville elects democratic officers, the city clerk excepted and three of the five aldermen elect are democrats. The democrats of the city have an excellent way of nominating their strongest men, and the republicans as a rule don't—State Journal.

As a rule the republicans put up good men and their strongest men, but at the last election though having a splendid ticket to vote for, many republicans showed a careless indifference which resulted in their defeat. The only way the republicans of Janesville can win is by hard, judicious work. When they do this for a good ticket, they are sure of success.

Congressman Green, of Georgia, is one of the democrats who look upon their public service as antagonistic to the democratic party, and the other day when he advertised for a candidate for a cadetship at West Point, he coolly gave notice that the applicant must be "white young man of democratic proclivities" that none other need apply. Congressman O'Hara, the colored member from the same state, invited "all young men" of his district to compete for the appointment at his disposal. That is the difference between democratic and republican methods in the south.

Captain Couch, the lawless leader of the Oklahoma boomers, has at last come to his senses. He has decided to go to Washington and have a talk with the president, and not make any further attempts to overpower the United States army. There is one thing to be said in favor of Captain Couch's new departure, and that is that it doesn't involve a lot of innocent but misguided people in a useless and hopeless conflict. Whatever becomes of Captain Couch, his followers will be likely to go about their business and try and find some lands to which they can secure a title without fighting for it.

The question whether one man can post another as a dead-beat, even if the charge be true, will soon be settled in Georgia. A merchant after trying for a year to collect a bill of a customer, posted a board in front of his store with these words on it: "Dead-bead, — (man's name) six dollars and thirty-eight cents." Every man, woman and child in the town saw it. The delinquent customer entered suit for $50,000 damages for libel. The merchant pleaded trial in justification, and large numbers of witnesses were introduced on both sides. It is not likely that the Georgia man will get his fifty thousand, but it is more likely that the court will decide that "posting" man is not to collect a bill, and will find for the plaintiff.

The war into which Russia is suddenly plunged with the Afghans, brings out a great many expressions of good will toward the former government. There has been for a good many years, a strong feeling of friendship toward Russia, and this grew out of the deep interest that country took in the United States when we were engaged in the civil war. These facts bring to mind a little incident which occurred soon after the war, when the United States sent a minister to convey to the Czar the resolutions of congress congratulating him on his escape from assassination; the officers of the American vessel were gorgeously entertained at St. Petersburg. At the great banquet in the winter palace the enthusiasm ran so high that a fair young princess tore the diamond necklace from her throat and threw it down the table toward the officers, exclaiming, "Aux Américains!" The string broke and the diamonds scattered over the floor. The officers picked them up and pressed them to their lips and said of "Vive la Russie! Vive la femme Russes!"

STATE FINANCES.

In the last report of Secretary of State Timme, he gave some facts and figures that warranted him in making the statement that there would be no necessity of levying a state tax for general purposes for 1886 and 1887, unless the legislature should make extraordinary appropriations, which has not been done.

Mr. Secretary Timme, on page 30, of his valuable report for 1885, says: "With the amount now in the state treasury, together with the increased revenue from business paid by railway, insurance, telegraph and telephone companies, with minor sums received from other sources which will be amply sufficient to defray the expenses of the state during the ensuing year, I have concluded to make no apportionment of this $240,000 (authorized by the legislature in 1883) to the various county clerks believing that in doing so the interests of the tax payers will be best subserved; that it is contrary to good public policy to levy a tax to lie idle in the vaults of the state treasury."

The senate committee on finances, banks and insurance, made a careful investigation of the financial condition of the state and reported to the senate on Thursday that no state tax would be necessary for the ensuing two years.

This shows an admirable condition of affairs of which the whole people should feel proud.

THE CHRONIC INSANE.

The monthly report of the State board of charities and reform gives the number of chronic insane in the state now under the care of the counties. The report by counties is as follows:

COUNTIES.	Jan.	Feb.	Mar.	Apr.
Brown	20	20	20	20
Dane	24	24	24	24
Dodge	24	24	24	24
Grant	24	24	24	24
Jefferson	24	24	24	24
Madison	24	24	24	24
Shawano	24	24	24	24
Waupaca	24	24	24	24
Waukesha	24	24	24	24
Total	205	205	205	205

The total number of insane in the state is about 1,860, of which nearly one-half are now under county care. In the two hospitals, on the last day of September, 1884, there were 1,124. From the county asylums there comes nothing but good report regarding the management and care of the unfortunate. The health of the inmates has been unusually good, and the movement of the population has been quite steady. Two patients from the Green county asylum and one from the Brown county asylum were discharged during the month as cured or improved; that there was one death in each of the asylums of Brown, Dane, Dodge, Grant and Jefferson counties, and that one patient in each of the asylums of Dodge, Green and Rock counties died in temporary restraint.

THE UNFORTUNATE EXPOSITION.

The nearer the New Orleans exposition comes to a close, the greater are its troubles. It is heavily in debt. In the first place the people of New Orleans were false to the trust placed in them. They deceived the government and everybody else when they made a report as to how much the state of Louisiana and the city of New Orleans would subscribe. The managers undertook to do more than they could pay for, trusting that congress would help them out. Now comes a squeable by the Louisiana creditors for their money, demanding that other creditors shall wait until some other time.

But the attorney general of the United States has decided that no part of the congressional appropriation for the exposition can be applied to the payment of the Louisiana creditors, and it is hoped that he will adhere to his decision. The managers seem to be a set of selfish men. They want to get hold of the appropriation for their own use. When the question was before congress these men said that it would take $100,000 to pay off all debts, when the facts were, and the managers knew it, the claims did not exceed $200,000. The same dishonest methods were employed when the managers got the original congressional appropriation.

The people of New Orleans do not appreciate the exposition. They want to make all they can out of the people who visit the city, but are unwilling to do their share in paying for the cost of the exposition. So long as this state of things exists, the government and everybody else, should let the managers pay off their local debt themselves.

HARRISON AND TWEED.

On the face of the returns it seems that Carter Harrison is elected mayor of Chicago by a very small majority, something like ten thousand less than his previous majority. But it is true that the methods of last fall have been repeated by the democrats of Chicago, and that nothing but fraud gave Harrison the election. It is well for the people of Chicago to think of these things. The city needs reforming. The mayor has too much power—especially such a mayor as Harrison. The better class of people, both republicans and democrats revolt at the weakness of Harrison, but the lower elements being largely in the majority, reform meets with defeat. There must be renewed efforts to down the Tweeds and the Harrisons because they dislodge municipal government.

New York could only get rid of Tweed by revolution, and Chicago must throw aside Harrison by the same method.

The republicans are having pretty much the same trouble with Mayor Smith, of Philadelphia, as the better class of democrats are having with Harrison in Chicago. He is on the side of the gamblers and pugilists and many of the criminal classes, and his admis-sation is becoming offensive to the moral element in the city. All such men should be cleaned out regardless of their political proclivities.

SMOOTHING HIS ROAD.

MAKING THE OLD COMMANDER'S WAY TO THE TOMB EASY.

Morphine the Means by Which He Is Kept Comfortable While the Destroyer Is at Work—A Message from Victoria—Notes.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Following is the latest from the locality of Gen. Grant:

NEW YORK, April 10, 1885.—Gen. Grant is passing another quiet night. He has had no pain for twenty-four hours. He is under the influence of morphine.

April 9.—The sleep of Gen. Grant was not broken until 1 o'clock this morning. The night had passed without interruption. As soon as he received his treatment this morning he rose and limped up in his chair by his own exertion. Mrs. Grant and the servant Harrison were quickly at his side, but he shook his head when they proffered assistance. He walked across the room, and his talk was full of the same topics as before. Mr. Charles left the house this morning at 10 o'clock. He said an anodyne was administered to Gen. Grant at 9 o'clock, and he was sleeping when Mr. Charles left. It was stated by Mr. Charles that a recurrence of hemorrhage was regarded as so improbable that the family and physicians were at ease on that score, as evidenced by the absence of all the doctors from the house. The assurance of the doctors is shared by the family.

An important consultation was held at 4 o'clock yesterday evening at which Dr. Parker, Dr. S. S. Smith, and Dr. Douglass were present.

It was agreed that the condition of the patient was improved. He has been quite comfortable all day, the bilious says, and has moved about the room several times. His pulse at the time of the consultation was 60, and full, temperature normal. Dr. Parker, on leaving, said:

"The general is better so far as his general condition is concerned, although the cancer is making sure progress; but he is well now that I shall not attend another consultation until there is an absolute necessity."

A question who knows much as any of the medical reports of Gen. Grant's case was made to-day: "It will surprise Gen. Grant's physicians very much if he dies within a week." The chances are that he will live two weeks longer. Of course, some unforeseen accident, such as a sudden failure of the heart, may occur and upset my prophecy, but with that exception I think you will find it correct. Blood poisoning is most to be feared. The physicians are now doing their best, and will probably succeed in doing so for a while at least. The second cause of alarm is from exhaustion. The progress of the cancer is so slow, I think, the last source of danger is now stationary, and has been so for a week. There is no danger of its developing sufficiently to become fatal for two months at least. With proper treatment it could be held in abeyance until fall. A hemorrhage is liable to occur at any moment, but I do not think it will alarm the physicians. It can be stopped immediately and before it does any material damage if done with care and skill, and I think that they are as they now are, and he is fully capable of managing any business that might come to a man in active life. He would be able to direct the movements of an army in the field to-day as he was twenty years ago so far as his mental condition is concerned. If I were his lieutenant general I would obey his orders from the sick-room as implicitly and with the same confidence as if he were an horseback by my side. Taking Care of the Water.

The city engineer's report as to disposition of St. Mary's avenue, Glen street and South Main street water, was made very fully to the common council at its last meeting with plans and estimates accompanying. As to St. Mary's avenue, he recommends that this avenue be laid out and continued across private lands to Bluff street and graded so as to conduct the water along such extension. No estimate of the expenses of this work is reported.

As Glen street he reports, first a plan to conduct the water to the river along the foot of the railroad embankment at an estimated cost of $3,247.92.

Nearly $300 of this estimate is made for the work along the embankment.

Second, a plan to go southerly from the railroad embankment along the narrow street between Bluff and Main street, to North Fifth street, thence to the river at an estimated cost of $3,097.73.

In filling the second ward cistern last evening, four sections of hose were burst with a water pressure of less than one hundred pounds. It required about three hours and a half for the engines to fill the cistern—playing in line.

From the large number registered up to noon to-day it is evident that there will be at least 200 maskers on the floor at the rink masquerade this evening. The whole affair will be conducted in first class manner and will be one of the grandest sights ever seen in our city.

Mr. William Tobin, of Footville, this county, died suddenly yesterday morning, of apoplexy, aged 60 years. The funeral was held at St. Mary's church, at eleven o'clock this forenoon, Rev. Father Rocha conducting the services. The remains were buried in the Catholic cemetery. The deceased recently arrived in this country from Ireland, and resided with a son at the time of his sudden death.

The Milwaukee street bridge in undergoing repairs, or at least it has been.

Some people suppose that the work is completed but this is not the case.

The intention is to make the new bridge about as wide as the old one with a side walk on each side. As soon as spring opens so that the logs and lumber can be got down from the north, we understand that work will be resumed, and unless we have an early frost the structure will be completed during the present year.

Some Evansville parties are in the city to-day, at the circuit court, for the purpose of complaining of the skating rink in that village as a public nuisance. It is said one of the residents in the immediate neighborhood the other morning, found a large number of whisky bottles hid away under the building and around the fence, and Evansville being a temperance town, the good people do not propose to willingly submit to such "lads," and have appealed to the law.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Pallen, the parents of the Rev. C. B. Pallen, rector of the Christ church, arrived in the city last evening. The peculiar interest of the present visit to their son's family will be the celebration of Mr. Pallen's seventeenth birthday anniversary on the eighteenth inst. Hon. L. T. Pallen, of Evansville, Wis., is Mr. Pallen's only surviving brother and is expected to be present on this eventful occasion. If Mr. and Mrs. Pallen live until 1850 the celebration of their golden wedding will be in order.
